Biographies are sent to the sponsors of the award and are used as the winner's introduction at the convention. When writing the biographies please keep in mind that the people reading them (drug representatives for example) may not know the winner personally. Listing the person's achievements in a resume form is easy to read and can be written so that it includes all the information; however, reading a resume is a sleeper. A short story or experiences explaining why this person is deserving of the award is more interesting. Please send both forms. It would be appreciated not only by the Sponsors and the Association but also the award winner and his family. You may write the story to keep the audience guessing as to who it is, adding small hints about the winners as you near the conclusion of the introduction if you would like. Thank you!
